

A sampling of what others have to say about Wiser Now Wednesdays:

Kathy Laenhue's Wiser Now Wednesday is the only email I eagerly open each week and I'm on a lot of email lists. It always makes me laugh and think by providing me with thoughtful material that I didn't even know I needed until I read it. I marvel at how chock full of information it is. Plus, the fun games to play keep my brain working, and as a neuro artist, I'm all about brains!

Kathy's weekly newsletter, Wiser Now Wednesday, is chock full of interesting information and programming possibilities, all around a single topic. I am always amazed how many different things—from quotes to quizzes to trivia to art—she can pull together. And it is presented in her signature lighthearted and “punny” style that is always fun to read. I suggest everyone sign up for the newsletter. It will make your Wednesdays.

You never cease to amaze me. . . You have put so much work into your [newsletters] – a lifetime of gathering material!

~ Juanita Baker, PhD.

Greetings from Boston. Your newsletters are terrific and I'm sharing them with friends and colleagues . . . Thank you for lighting up my life.

~ Patricia Cohen for author Allen Bragdon. See <http://www.brainwaves.com/>

I love the wisdom and fun you provide. Even my grandkids enjoy the riddles, quizzes, and puns.

~ Cheryl Fell, Nurse FUNshine. Website: <http://nursefunshine.com/>

I LOVE your work. I laugh at your newsletter, admire the smart and wily work, and hope that those I have suggested it to follow up!

~ Megan Hannah, Action Pact consultant <https://www.actionpact.com/>

I am grateful for the smiles and wisdom you shine in the world.

~ Deb Joy Hart

Thanks for highlighting Canada. Once on a cruise ship, I met and had long conversations with a fellow he taught college level in Colorado. I asked him how he felt Canada was commonly regarded by Americans. He replied." it's kind of like your Aunt's attic. You know there's some really neat stuff up there but you don't need to go up and explore very often."

~ Canadian Kathy Klaus

You rock! Always love your newsletter. I just ordered you book. You are an inspiration. Thanks for making my life better today.

~ Patricia Ryan Madson, author of Improv Wisdom. Website: <https://www.improvwisdom.com/>

Kathy, you are such deep thinker. I really enjoy your mind at work. Keep up the great work.

~ Sylvia M

I love your Wiser Now and look forward to Wednesday mornings in eager anticipation. Today's double feature is superb, from your oh-so timely quote and to the facts about Muir and Audubon to your punny word challenge. I am forwarding this to my neighbors who are birders and gardeners.

~ Deb Price

(On Aussie Rules) I love these and am sending this one to my friend who loves koalas above all other animals!

~ Joyce Saltman

So many ideas in your newsletter that people can use in working with older adults, and in their own lives!!

~ Vicki Schmall, owner Aging Concerns, West Linn, OR

It's perfect, Kathy. Especially when you're sitting with a 1/1 or small group setting 2-4 at the most eh? . . . And you're questions are not complicated, they are interesting! . . . So thank you. I thoroughly enjoy reading your posts :)

~ Tracey T, UK

I love your Wednesdays. The one on gender of objects had me chortling out loud all by myself. Had to forward it. You are remarkable.
